

How to use your wooden magnetic poster hanger

Note: If you hold the magnets the wrong way, they will repel each other. Adjust the wood pieces so magnets attract.

1 Take your frame out of the packaging. Keep each pair of wood together as they are perfectly aligned.

2 Using a sliding motion, pull one pair of magnets apart (the pair without string). Keep the wood pieces at a slight distance from one another so they don't snap shut.

3 Line up one piece of wood behind the bottom of the poster. There will be a slight overhang of wood on each edge. Hold the poster in place with your fingers.

4 Carefully place one edge of the top piece of wood down, remove fingers from in between wood pieces, and gently drop down until it 'clicks' with the bottom piece.

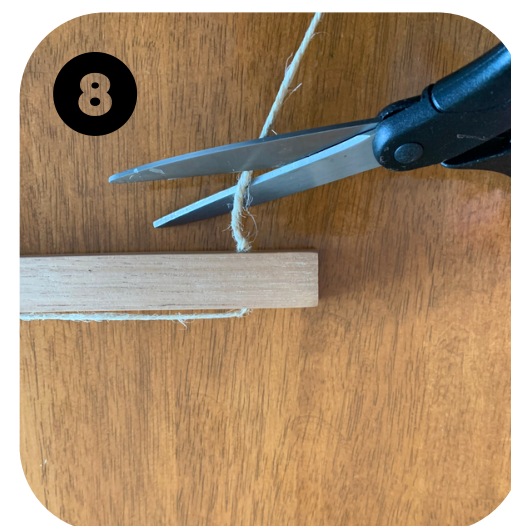

5 Repeat step 4 for the top frame. Place the wood piece with the string on the underside of the poster.

6 Hang the string on a hook or nail to display your print.

7 If you need to adjust the height of the hanging string, lay the poster and frame on a flat surface, undo one knot on the string, adjust, then re-tie.

8 Feel free to cut off excess string.
